

CONVOCATION TO HONOR FIVE

WEEKEND TO FEATURE PEP RALLY AND DANCE

Would you like to see cheerleaders in action? Sorry, this isn't the place; but if you'd like to watch a display by the greatest combination of male cheerleaders in existence to-day . . . this still isn't the place.

Our muscular, masculine men of mirth and merriment will be on hand at a giant pep rally to be held in the Upper Field this Friday night at 8 p.m. This pep rally will be the opening event of the forthcoming Western-McGill weekend.

Larry Sullivan, head coach of the Redmen, will introduce his team. This will be a good chance for all of you co-eds to get a close-up of real football players. Perhaps the boys on the team will be inspired by your enthusiasm and proceed to score a rousing victory over Western on Saturday.

For all you square dance addicts, Mike Dodman and his Buckskin Boys will supply the music for everything from allemand left to promenade. Even if you aren't too sure of the techniques of country dancing, don't dismay; there will be a caller to get and keep you on the right track.

A highlight of the evening will be the burning of an effigy. Don't ask us what it will represent. The only way to find out is to be there while it takes place.

Refreshments will be available at greatly reduced rates. The af-the Arts Building before going to Redpath Hall where the Governors will entertain her at a luncheon. After Convocation Her Royal Highness will attend a reception at the Principal's Residence.

DEBATING PLANS TO TAKE SHAPE

All novice debaters are invited to attend the meeting at 1 p. m. today in the Walter Stewart room of the Union. Jack Winter Vice-President of ASUS and co-chairman of ASUS debating will launch the novice training program with a few opening remarks.

Marv Gameroff, former president of SEC and one of McGill's outstanding debaters, will deliver the first of his introductory lectures on the Art of debating. This will be followed by a second lecture on Thursday in which Mary will deal with such aspects as approaching the resolution, analysing the proposition. A month of practical debating will follow.

CANTERBURY CLUB ORGANIZES EVENTFUL SEASON

The Canterbury Club is planning to present weekly Sunday evening "social fire-sides" this year which will include discussions, addresses by eminent speakers, and meetings with other religious clubs and carolling at Christmas. The club will also organize an outing "up north" during the ski season.

Members of the Canterbury Club are both undergraduate and graduate students of Anglican denomination or those who are interested in it, who are striving to uphold the Gospel of Christ. Corporate Communion and breakfast is held once a month at Christ Church Cathedral and lunch time discussions are led at Divinity Hall every Wednesday. Public service is an important function of the Club. This year the executive hopes to organize volunteer work in the hospitals and to help with Christmas cheer for the poor and needy.

"To do this, we need a large membership," said Rosalind Hudson, Publicity Manager for the Club, "so why not drop in at our Pep Rally which is to be held on October 16. There is no obligation to join at the first meeting!"

PLAYERS' CLUB OFFERS VARIED OPPORTUNITIES

Last year the Players Club had a favourable reception to their presentation of Hedda Gabler. The house was full every night and dozens of people were turned away from the doors.

This may be another symptom of a revival of interest in Canadian theatre as a whole. Or perhaps it is not a revival but a birth. A good illustration of this point is that Montreal's only all-summer theatre had a 90 per cent attendance record during the last months.

Rejuvenation

However this may be, one thing is certain: the McGill Players Club plans a complete rejuvenation this year. More activities are scheduled and more general student interest is the aim.

But more people are needed to help the club carry through its programme. If you are interested in any side of the theatre a responsible job is open to you.

The Players Club divides its activities into two main fields: the main production, taking place at the end of November, and various experimental one act plays, the first group of which will be presented at the beginning of the same month. The experimentals are directed and if possible written by students.

Original Script

If you wish to direct or have an original script which you want to see produced, here is your chance. Particularly writers suffering from that chronic playwrights complaint of being unable to get their work performed should be interested. Would you please ring Christopher Byrd at WA. 7507 or Bryan Jones at HA. 1810 in the evening up to 10:30 p.m.; they will arrange to discuss the matter with you.

First Casting

Finally a word for anyone with a wish to act. The first casting for the main production will take place on the 13th October starting at 8 p.m. in the Union. Do not get the idea that to get a good part you need experience; you could get the lead without ever having touched a stage.

NEW DAILY STAFF

All students who wish to join the staff of The Daily who did not attend the meeting Monday night, are asked to come to a meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Walter M. Stewart room of the Union. It is essential that all prospective staffers have attended one of these two meetings anyone who cannot come should contact one of the editors in the Daily office in the Union this week.

UNIVERSITY MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS

The University requires all students (whether regular, limited or partial students, and whether undergraduate or graduate students) to present themselves for examination by the University Health Service as follows:-

- (i) In each academic year during their membership of the University, students must present themselves, before November 1st, for a chest x-ray examination. Examinations are given by appointment with the Health Service. Students who fail to comply with this requirement by November 1st, in any academic year, will be subject to a fine of five dollars; and students who fail to comply with it by November 15th will be suspended from membership of the University.
- (ii) In his, or her, first year, as a member of any Faculty, every student must present himself, or herself, for general clinical examination and routine laboratory tests. Examinations are given by appointment with the Health Service. Students who fail to comply with this requirement by January 1st in any academic year will be subject to a fine of five dollars, and students who fail to comply it by January 14th will be suspended from membership of the University. Students should note that, in cases in which they have met this requirement in one Faculty and have subsequently entered another Faculty, they must present themselves for re-examination as members of the Faculty to which they have passed.

Participation in athletics is conditional upon the results of these examinations.

Provision is made, during the session, for the re-examination of any student who may seem to require it.

LATE, BUT STILL WELCOME

The future of athletics at McGill University can be looked upon with new optimism since the announcement that a loan fund is at present available to athletes. The fund is just one part of a large program sponsored by the Martlet Foundation and aimed at improving the athletic situation that now exists at the University.

The Martlet Foundation has been in existence since April 1954. Its purpose is "fostering and assisting athletics at McGill University". Its methods, exclusive of the loan fund, include financial donations to specific athletic undertakings, and talent-scouting.

What has made the present loan arrangement acceptable, while another in operation prior to 1951, was not, is a distinction in the organization of the two. The Martlet Foundation operates through the University and is under its supervision. The old loan fund was not. It was a private arrangement between interested graduates and the individual students concerned. There was no guarantee that the loans were ever paid back.

It was this fear of professionalism that made it necessary to have it discontinued.

Under the present Foundation rules, the loan is not made to the student in cash. Rather, his fees, or board, or lodging, are paid for directly by the Bursar and the student is asked for a promissory note for the amounts concerned. All loans must be paid back in prearranged installments as soon as the student begins earning.

The Martlet Foundation represents a significant step towards recognizing the need for good athletic teams in this University. They are desirable in that they provide an income which may be put to useful purpose elsewhere in the athletic curriculum. They are desirable in that they are a potent force of public relations. They are desirable because they provide, for a large and cosmopolitan student body, a common objective and desire.

We commend the Martlet Foundation and the work that it is doing. As long as there is no compromise of University regulations and standards, there can be no possible grounds for objection.

THE FRENCH QUESTION

By now the news of France's decision to withdraw its permanent delegation to the U.N. is well known, but repercussions are still being felt throughout the world.

One of the guiding principles of the United Nations Charter is that the U.N. is in no way to interfere with the domestic and internal policies of member nations. Algeria, unlike Morocco and Tunisia, send representatives to the Chamber of Deputies, and is thus, technically speaking, a part of France proper. Premier Faure felt that the United Nations' action in scheduling debate on Algeria was a flagrant violation of its Charter, against its best interests, and an illegal meddling in France's domestic affairs. In protest the French delegation withdrew.

There is really a much larger issue at stake than Algeria. The Nations which voted against France were the Asian and African block, the South American groups, and the Soviet bloc. Those who voted with France were the United States, Britain, Canada, and most of the smaller pro-Western nations.

Today our world is divided into three camps: communist, capitalist, and a very large group of peoples in the middle who have not quite made up their minds. They hold the balance of power. It was the Asia-African group who was responsible for the passing of the resolution over violent American and French opposition.

To the majority of Africans and Asians Colonialism is a living, breathing issue of immense importance. They feel that their fight against France is just one more step in the never-ending struggle to free their oppressed brethren from European domination; from white domination. Colonialism to an Asia-African is more than just a political term; it means humiliation, it means servitude, it means a park from which dogs and coloured people are not admitted, it means a search for weapons at three AM, a fear of sudden death and destruction at the hands of a colonial police. True, these fears are often groundless, nonetheless blinded by nationalism and often spurred on by self-seeking politicians, the Africa-Asians possess almost a crusader spirit, to drive the foreigner from their soil.

The issues of course are not so cut and dried. France has spent billions on her colonies and should get a return for her investment. Since Algeria does send deputies to Paris the U.N. interference in Algeria is in a way parallel to a U.N. investigation into the Negro problem in U.S. and Canada.

The West should be conscious of the rise of nationalism through the world. Before the end of the last war President Roosevelt promised freedom to all the North African colonies. Soon after his death Western policy took a radical change, and the West began to support the colonial regimes and to physically support the old existing orders. The result of this policy was the loss to the west of China, part of Indochina, part of Korea, and so on.

We should learn from our mistakes and give our support to those powers which, although technically-speaking are revolutionary, nonetheless have the support of the vast majority of the natives. If we don't lend them our support Russia will.

Bob Reich.

99 44-100% PURE . . .

Modern universities are not adapted to the age in which we live. While other industries forge ahead, bringing benefit and cheer to mankind, the university stands aloof, a lone spot of mold on the shiny face of the diesel engine that is modern competitive society. All because colleges have never learned to make use of the giant of our times — advertising.

Blue Soap

It has been amply demonstrated in the past years that the public will buy any product at all, if it is given a clever sales promotion. Why not education? Surely the same people who spend millions every year on blue soap, green toothpaste and indelible lipstick, can be persuaded to dig down into their pocketbooks for that college degree. Colleges must learn to sell themselves to the nation, just as the large deodorant manufacturers do.

The Pepsodent of Colleges

Competitions between universities should be keen. Each should strive to make its name a household word, like Duz or Pepsodent. Slogans, should be circulated: "Why be half educated; attend McGill to be sure." Fees should be lowered competitively and advertising campaigns should be planned around this: "Nobody but nobody undersells McGill."

Halitosis

Colleges could plan to take advantage of the public's natural timidity. People could be made to feel as self-conscious about their uneducated state as they now feel about halitosis or B. O. "Even your friends won't tell you . . ." Within the university itself, the various courses should compete with each other, using advertising techniques. Campaigns could be planned around such slogans as: "She's lovely, she's engaged, she met him in honors Maths-Physics."

Letters to the Editor

The Daily has been very flattered these past few days by the interest expressed in letter to the editor from students at McGill. It goes without saying that any newspaper is most anxious to receive letters from its readers. We also feel that the readers are concerned in such a column for it is only here that the Daily can carry on a "discussion" with its readers.

Unsigned

Unfortunately a great many of these letter are coming to us without having been signed. It is absolutely necessary that any letter that is to appear in the "letters to the editor" column of the Daily bear the name of the author or authors.

Names May Be Withheld

However it is by no means necessary that these names be published. If you have a letter and you do not wish to have your name published with it, include with it the nom de plume you wish used, or ask that your name be withheld and we will be most happy to comply.

Please do remember, if you wish to write us, that we MUST have the full name of the author for our files.

THE FUTURE, PRESENT

NEXT YEAR IS HERE — WE DOOD IT, it probably the way the Brooklyn Daily Eagle would headline the Dodgers' World Series triumph, if it were still in existence. And we imagine that several of the Dodgers, veterans of the club who took special delight in praise from The Eagle, wish it were still around to add its voice to the multitude raining praise.

But The Eagle is gone forever, forced to close last year when wage dispute and internal strife became too much to endure. The Eagle was the paper that brought the Dodger war cry, Wait Till Next Year, to every household in Flatbush. Its front page banners during the late stages of every pennant race involving the Bums, and every world series in which they participated, seemed to personify the spirit of the Dodgers.

For their year of glory, the first time in eight attempts that a Dodger team has succeeded in its quest, victory is made doubly sweet by beating the Yankees, the "unbeatables" of baseball. To again repeat the Flock Faithful, Next year is here; the Bums are Best.

MEDS SWEEP INTRAMURAL TRACK WINSHIP, ANDERSON SHINE

Despite rather cloudy and damp weather yesterday afternoon, and especially despite the World Series, a record number of Track enthusiasts turned out for the Intramural Track meet, which this year was run in conjunction with the McGill Championships.

The Faculty of Medicine ended the two-year reign of the Engineers as Kings of Intramural Track as they swept to victory with a grand total of 116 points. Leading their contingent was Jerry Anderson, who accumulated some 27 points on his own. Southerland was another very big scorer for the prospective Medics. Salt was rubbed into the wounds of the defeated Plumbers by their Arch-rivals, the men from Arts and Science as the A.S.U.S. boys managed to garner 89 points to relegate the former Champs to third. The show-position finishers amassed 76.5 points. Other totals are as follows: Phys. Ed. — 55.5; Commerce — 54; Grad. Studies — 34; Dentistry — 6.

Individual Honours were captured by Winship of Grads who totalled all of his team's points. This of course, was not unusual since his team consisted of no one but himself. His thirty-four points were sufficient to beat out Anderson by a fairly comfortable margin.

Peter Reid was once again the force to be reckoned with in the 880-yard and 440-yard events as he swept to victory over his usual competitor, Doug Maule of Arts and Science. Finishes in both these races were extremely close, but that in the 880 left little to choose between the runners.

Bob Land walked off with the Pole Vault title for the Physical Education Faculty, with a height of 10 feet. Another heavy favorite, high jumper Ross Briere of Medicine, defeated Land in the high-jump with a final height of 5'6.5".

A sensational new sprinter was unveiled by Arts, in the person of Boldon. A freshman student from Trinidad, he walked off with the 100-yard and 220-yard events in excellent time. As a matter of interest, Boldon is a member of the same club in Trinidad, the "Rangers", as Agostini, who raced to a spectacular 100-yard victory at Vancouver in the B. E. Games.

Constantine scored heavily in the longer distance races as he took first in the one and three mile races. The latter was a grueling contest in which Guy Mersereau was runner-up.

Joe Anderson and Howie Ryan were both extremely pleased at the large entry this year, Ryan, in his capacity as head of Intramural activity and Anderson, as coach of the Intercollegiate Track team. Anderson was of the opinion that a brighter day would have seen a slightly larger turnout, but he would not comment on the chances of the Redmen tracksters at Western, judging solely on this meet. He hastened to point out that most of the boys were out of shape entirely and he hopes that two weeks extensive training will work the kinks out of his stars.

There was a most glaring vacancy in the hurling section of the competition as there seems to be very few McGillians who partake in this activity. Anderson is bemoaning this lack of talent especially since Varsity and Western are reported to have top-flight talent in this line. On the brighter side, of course, were the performances of Winship, Constantine, Land, Briere, Anderson, Reid, Maule et al which might conceivably lead to a glimmer of optimism in the coldest heart.

ATHLETICS

Students are requested to pick up their student athletics coupon book as soon as possible, after they have received receipt covering fees:

MEN STUDENTS: Room 3, Gymnasium.

WOMEN STUDENTS: R.V.-C. Athletics Department.

B. POWELL CAPTURES GOLF CROWN

Brian Powell yesterday displayed golfing form to make anyone sit up and take notice as he copied the McGill championship with a 36-hole score of 149. This total consisted of rounds of 77 and 72, the latter being par for the course. Second place out at the Dixie course was taken by Pat Northey, who was tied with Powell at the 18-hole mark, but he found today that his 74, excellent though it was slightly too high when compared with Powell's 72. Another two strokes behind Northey came Bob Hanna with a score of 153, while Derek Hanson, last year's titleholder, took fourth, though way off the pace with a 162. Powell was runner-up last tournament.

By virtue of these results, the Intercollegiate team to represent McGill at the College meet to be held in Kingston this Friday will consist of Powell, Northey, Hanna and Hanson. Northey is the sole newcomer to the club, which, last year, captured the Intercollegiate Championship.

Fifth and sixth-place finishes were registered by Mickey McFarlane and Bruce Little with 167 and 168 respectively over the thirty-six holes. Final results this season were far superior to those of last year and prospects for a successful defence of the College title are certainly bright.

WHAT'S WITH THE UNION?

"Hello, is that the President of the Union?"

"Yes."

"You probably wouldn't know me, but I'm a Freshman."

"Yes."

"I'd like to know something. Exactly why should I come to the Union?"

"Well, you see, its like this..."

"I read in the Daily that you said it's the place to go, but I want to know whether you're just saying that because you're the President or whether because it's really true."

"Young lady, do you think I'd stoop... well, listen, and I'll tell you the whole story."

"Whatever your interests, the Union has something for you. If you're interested in dramatics, the Red & White has its office in the basement. The players Club holds meetings and some of its productions here also."

If your beat runs in the line of literary publications you can take your choice from the Daily, the Annual, Forge, the Fig Leaf, or the Handbook.

For activities of a less strenuous nature, the Lounge upstairs is equipped with a radio, TV set, magazines, and comfortable couches. The poolroom, which formerly catered to men only, will be open to the fairer gender this year. Various campus groups hold their parties in the Union, and there's always a card game of some sort going on downstairs. Oh, yes — smokers are also given here.

All the big campus activities hold meetings in the Union-Winter Carnival, the Prom, the Blood Clinic, Combined Charities, Freshmen Reception... even the Women's Union thinks the Union is the ideal place for its annual Fashion Show."

"Thank you so much, Mr. President. That all sounds very exciting, but tell me one thing: do you know how I can get myself a parking permit?"

"No, child, I don't."

Scotch Promotion

Academic fads could be introduced to keep the public constantly aware of the colleges. Professors from Scotland, for example, could be publicized as star attractions. "No college should be without one..."

Canadians must be made conscious of the universities, and of their own ignorance. They must be made to feel that they cannot do without that McGill degree, or that course in Anthropology 12½ b. The universities of the world must learn how to appeal to the tastes of the general public.

FACULTY OF ARTS AND SCIENCE CHANGE OF COURSE

Students wishing to change a course for which they are registered, must do so by completing the appropriate "Change of Course" forms available in the assistant Dean's office, room 140, arts building.

These forms (three) must be completed and turned in by the student who should call back within two days to receive his signed copy if the change is approved.

Merely turning in the forms does not constitute authority for the change and it is the student's responsibility to ascertain that the change has been approved.

The deadline for changing courses is 12 o'clock noon Saturday, October 15th and no requests whatsoever will be considered after this date.
